The United Nations has found that the trade of certain rare earth mineral mining is helping to finance the civil conflict in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) or adjoining countries, characterized by extreme levels of violence, resulting in widespread human rights violations and environmental degradation. These minerals are Coltan, Wolframite, Cassiterite and Gold, and their respective derivatives, Tantalum, Tungsten, Tin, and pure Gold, commonly referred to as "3TG". Section 1502(b) of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act requires U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) reporting companies to undertake an inquiry as to the source and chain of custody of conflict materials and to annually report certain information concerning 3TG contained in products that they manufacture. Design Two Thousand Pty Ltd is not a publicly traded company so it is only subject to reporting to our customers that are responsible for SEC filing.

OUR COMMITMENT:

1. Our ultimate goal is to have a supply chain that consists of materials that is DRC conflict free.
2. Support the objectives of the Dodd-Frank Act on the supply of "Conflict Minerals".
3. Exercise due diligence to determine any source of conflict minerals; conduct a reasonable inquiry into the country of origin for any component used in our manufacturing process which is not directly specified by our supplier. This inquiry will consist of the manufacturer or distributor of the component confirming their compliance to the Conflict Minerals Act.

Design Two Thousand Pty Ltd remains committed to ethical practices and compliance with all applicable regulations and laws.
